4. Delays

A. General

A delay occurs when there is a failure to deliver products or make progress in accordance with the schedule set forth in the contract. Three kinds of delays are found in Government contracting:

- Delays caused by the contractor's negligence or fault;
- Delays caused by Government action or inaction (e.g., formal or informal changes);
or
- Delays beyond the control of both the Government and the contractor.

Problems that involve delays tend to be serious. A failure to meet a delivery or completion date usually begins with a problem that occurred much earlier in the course of the contract. Take action as soon as a problem is identified. A delay in meeting a delivery schedule could endanger an entire Government program or mission.

The Contracting Officer must determine who is at fault once a delay has been documented. The parties at fault can be:

- The Government
- The contractor
- Both the Government and the contractor
- Neither the Government nor the contractor

B. Types of Delays

There are three types of delays that can occur in a Government contract:

1. Non-excusable Delays

A non-excusable delay is a delay that the Government has not authorized and for which the contractor is totally at fault. The contractor is not excused from meeting the delivery schedule at the price agreed upon when it cannot justify the delay as being beyond its control. The contractor is responsible for all costs incurred to make up for the "lost time" resulting from a non-excusable delay.

2. Excusable Delays

An excusable delay is a delay that is beyond the control and without the fault or negligence of the contractor. When the Government is at fault or when no one is to blame, the contractor may be "excused" from meeting the completion date. Excusable delays, in contrast with delays caused by the Government, do not justify changes to the contract other than an extension of time. The contractor bears additional costs for excusable delays; the contractor gets time but not money.

Examples of delays when neither the Government nor the contractor is responsible are:

- Acts of God
- Unusually severe weather
- Strikes and labor disputes
- Public enemy causes
- Causes beyond the control of the subcontractors and suppliers

Examples of delays when the Government is responsible are:

- Directing the contractor to stop work
- Making a change to the contract
- Performing other acts within the Government's sovereign capacity
- Failing to perform an act that hinders performance, such as -
 - making the site available when required
 - processing approvals
 - obtaining funding
 - issuing changes in a timely manner
 - responding to contractor's requests
 - furnishing Government property when required
 - inspecting or accepting when required

3. Compensable Delays

A compensable delay is a delay where the contractor may recover money as well as time. This will depend on the cause of the delay, the nature of its impact on the contract and the contractual provisions dealing with compensation for delays (e.g., in the "Stop Work Order" clause or "Changes" clause.)

Examples of compensable delays include untimely supplying of Government furnished property and an unreasonable amount of time or failure to respond to the contractor's request for clarifications.

If a Contracting Officer issues a stop work order, the Government should negotiate an increase in the cost of performance caused by the interruption and delay. This is only applicable if the Government is solely responsible for all interruptions or delays that occurred during a specific period of time. If concurrent delays occur, the Government is precluded from providing recovery unless the contractor is able to show that the Government delays were not concurrent or intertwined.

5. Embassy Estimate

The Embassy estimates that the volume of purchases through this agreement will be USD $ 180,000 equal to 60,000,000 FCFA (ROE: 562 FCFA)

(B) The taxpayer is delinquent in making payment. A taxpayer is delinquent if the taxpayer has failed to pay the tax liability when full payment was due and required. A taxpayer is not delinquent in cases where enforced collection action is precluded.

(ii) Examples. (A) The taxpayer has received a statutory notice of deficiency, under I.R.C. §6212, which entitles the taxpayer to seek Tax Court review of a proposed tax deficiency. This is not a delinquent tax because it is not a final tax liability. Should the taxpayer seek Tax Court review, this will not be a final tax liability until the taxpayer has exercised all judicial appeal rights.

(B) The IRS has filed a notice of Federal tax lien with respect to an assessed tax liability, and the taxpayer has been issued a notice under I.R.C. §6320 entitling the taxpayer to request a hearing with the IRS Office of Appeals contesting the lien filing, and to further appeal to the Tax Court if the IRS determines to sustain the lien filing. In the course of the hearing, the taxpayer is entitled to contest the underlying tax liability because the taxpayer has had no prior opportunity to contest the liability. This is not a delinquent tax because it is not a final tax liability. Should the taxpayer seek tax court review, this will not be a final tax liability until the taxpayer has exercised all judicial appeal rights.

(C) The taxpayer has entered into an installment agreement pursuant to I.R.C. §6159. The taxpayer is making timely payments and is in full compliance with the agreement terms. The taxpayer is not delinquent because the taxpayer is not currently required to make full payment.

(D) The taxpayer has filed for bankruptcy protection. The taxpayer is not delinquent because enforced collection action is stayed under 11 U.S.C. §362 (the Bankruptcy Code).

(i) Certification Regarding Knowledge of Child Labor for Listed End Products (Executive Order 13126). The Contracting Officer must list in paragraph (i)(1) any end products being acquired under this solicitation that are included in the List of Products Requiring Contractor Certification as to Forced or Indentured Child Labor, unless excluded at [22.1503\(b\).]
